Course Info

From Files to Ferrule: A Restoratively Driven Path to Endodontic Excellence

This course focuses on the extension of the tooth life cycle. Participants will learn the benefits of reviewing Remaining Dentin Thickness (RDT) and current endodontic restorative trends/techniques that preserve long-term success of the tooth. The goal of this course is to reinforce the value of combining Endo/Resto and the need to retain Pericervical Dentin and the establishment of a “TruFerrule”.

“Endodontic Therapy is not Complete Until the Tooth is Restored to Function”

Objectives – At the conclusion, attendees will be able to:

- Diagnose and treatment plan Endo/Resto procedures with confidence.
- Discuss endodontic therapy including pre-endodontic restorations, access, and dentin preservation.
- Provide clear guidelines for when a post is needed and determining the placement of direct vs. indirect restorations.
- Incorporate modern irrigation principles into their endodontic treatment protocols.
- Explain why single visit Endo/Resto is preferred and when it is not an option.

When to Retain the Compromised Tooth a Microsurgical Endodontic Perspective: Procedures to Enhance Patient Centered Outcomes

Clinicians are often faced with challenges in diagnosing endodontically treated teeth that may require surgery to assist in rubber dam isolation, apical surgery and/or intentional replantation.

Objectives – At the conclusion, attendees will be able to:

- Explain the future of surgical procedures to enhance rubber dam isolation.
- Describe how technology can change endodontic outcomes.
- Disseminate advancements in the field.
- Review and obtain a 3D diagnostic database for successful endodontic treatment planning and case acceptance.
- Explain Digital Transformation.

Endodontic Retreatment versus Endodontic Surgery: Decision Planning Dilemmas

As clinicians, we are often presented with endodontic cases that persist with symptoms or become re-infected. But what are the parameters that should be considered before we decide to manage the case by either endodontic re-treatment or endodontic surgery? This will be both a “why to” presentation focusing on the decision-making process and a “how to” presentation. We hope this stimulates participant conversations and opinions through an Audience Response System (ARS).

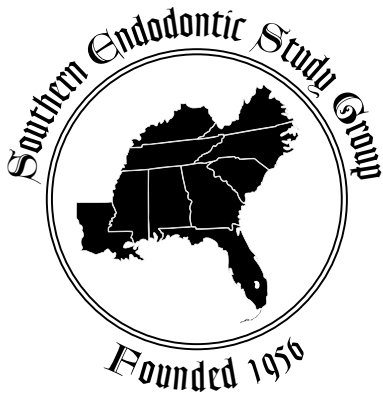

Objectives – At the conclusion, attendees will be able to:

- Describe the metamorphoses that exist between old and current surgical techniques.
- Identify biologic aspects of surgical endodontics and spatial features.
- Discuss the prognosis of surgical endodontics and future endodontic “telecommunication”.

Dentists who attend all three courses will earn a total of 11.5 CEUs.

Each continuing education activity is presented in a lecture format, with audio-visual accompaniment and an opportunity for questions.

At the conclusion of each seminar attendees should be able to understand and have full knowledge of each of the objectives listed below each course. No prior knowledge or skill level is required before attending these courses.
